FARM WORK IS IN GOOD SHAPE IN KENTUCKY

Federal Weather Bureau Issues Crop Summary In Which Crops Are Reported Good.

Louisville, July 1. - The weather bureal today issued the following summary and crop conditions in Kentucky during the week ending June 28:

"Good rains occurred during the week in the North central counties, including most of the Bluegrass region; and light local showers elsewhere. A large area in the central part of the state received little or no rain. Drouth is becoming serious in many localities ,the condition as to moisture being decidedly 'spotted' in the central and Western counties.

"Except in the driest localities, corn is in satisfactory condition and is growing rapidly. Its growth has been stimulated greatly by the persistent high temperature which has adversely affected other crops. Meadows are maturing prematurely although some improvement from local rains is noted. Hay harvest has begun with the weather favorable and yields light. Oats are filling better on account of showers, but straw is short.

"A full crop of tobacco could not be set in the dark district on account of dry soil. Transplanting of burley was generally completed during the week, which is unusually late for this crop. In most of the state the weather was favorable for threshing, which made SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION good progress; but yields are generally less than expected. This is believed to be due to the long period of dry weather preceding harvest that prevented many heads from filling com-

"Some young clover has died in the driest districts and only favored localities report it in good condition. Pastures are short and badly dried in some sections.

VERDICT!

LEGION MOST LIKELY TO OFFER CHAUTAUQUA

Leslie H. Arthur Post American Legion Will Probably Sign Contract for Chautauqua for August,

It is learned on good authority that there is now every possibility that Maysville will have a chautauqua at Beechwood Park this year.

The Leslie H. Arthur Post American Legion has been on a deal with an Independent Chautauqua for a date during the first of the month of August and the chaultauqua people are quite anxious to come to Maysville. A list of the available talent will be furnished the Legion and they will elect a committee of local people who will chose the talent for the local season.

The matter of finances and signing of the contract is all that now remains to be done to assure Maysville of a chautauqua and this will probably be done within the week.

DATE CHANGED.

Word has been received from the State Sunday School Association that it will be impossible to send a state worker for the date set for the Mason county convention and suggested that the date be changed if possible. Knowing the value of the presence of one of the field workers, President Greenlee of the county announces that the date will be moved forward to July 22nd. The new date seems to meet with general approval. The convention will be held in the Lawrence Creek Christian church, and from the I will offer at public auction at my interest taken by that school as well home at 24 East Front street on Fri- as practically every school in the

STEAMER CHILD HAS UNLUCKY TRIP TODAY

Deck Hand Is Drowned, Engineer Suffers Broken Arm and Steamer Has Hard Time Making Trip.

The trip up the Ohio Friday morning of the Green line steamer Child was certainly the most unlucky trip that steamer has ever yet taken.

When landing near Augusta at about daylight Friday morning a deckhand, thought to be about half asleep, slipped from the front deck into the river and was run over by the steamer. An effort was made for an hour by members of the crew to recover the body of the colored man who no one seemed to know by his right name but the body was not recovered.

Shortly after leaving Augusta the steamer's pumps were not working properly and the engineer, while working on the machinery, suffered a broken arm. From Ripley to Maysville the boat was not running properly and members of the crew were completely worn out upon the arrival of the boat here

GOVERNMENT SHOULD TAK EACTION.

One of the most outrageouscases of discrimination against former service men was brought to light recently at Fort Wayne, Ind. It seems that there are a classof hotel keepers, and possibly merchants who not only rfuse to help deserving ex-service men, but go out of their way to kick down stairs those who were wounded and gassed in are compelled under their contracts to the trenches in France while they were at home making money.

The case in question is that of a hotel i nthis Indiana city which rfused to recognize United States government certificates, which were tendered the hotel clerk by a former service man who had been gassed in Flanders. The excuse given by this money grabbing clerk was that they "had no time to fool with the government certificates." If the boys who fought and bled in France had had no time to fool with the German hosts, this hotl keeper and his clerk would be having "to fool" perhaps with a German military governor. To the credit of Fort Wayne the American legion post, the daily press and patriotic tion. citizens this insult has not gone unnoticed. A law should be passed making all civilians honor these certificates the same as any other check and imposing a fine for not doing so, the same as it is a federal offense to discriminate against soldiers in uniform-

FORD A FIRE BRAND.

In defeating Henry Ford for the United States senate in 1918 the voters of Michigan did not only themselves a service, but the entire nation. While he has accomplished a great thing in the automobile industry the appearance of the millionaire, the stirrer of class and racial and religious hatred, in the United States senate would have been demoralizing. The conspiracy of Woodrow Wilson to rob the five barrell well was recently com-Republicans of a senator by securing the nomination of a Wilsonized pleted. fanatic on the Republican ticket was happily frustrated by Senator Trueman M. Newberry and his friends who are now serving a martyrdom thrust upon them by a spiteful administration. Well may Americans thank God that Ford was defeated. The following testimony in the Ford-Newberry contest at Washington speaks for itself and "The committee also heard second hand what purported to be Mr. Ford's own theory of Senator Newberry's campaign from Allen liar phenomenon occurred and later a erick O'Brien, author, one of the ship's Templeton, of Detroit.

"'Mr. Ford called me in after election' Mr. Templeton said, 'and told me that he believed a gang of Jews had a general conspiracy to control the senate and the government and that they had backed Newberry'.''

CURB, BUT DO NOT KILL.

In the administration of Theodore Roosevelt big business became arrogant and tried to run the government, especially the railroads. Roosevelt put them in their place, and did not kill them. The result was beneficial to the people.

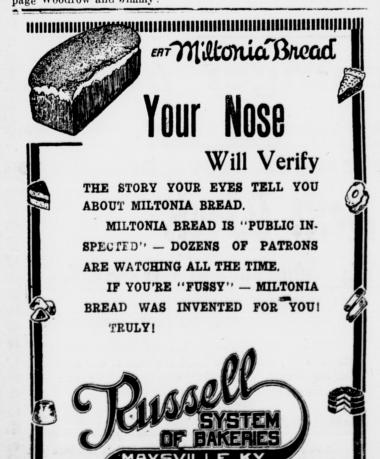

In the administration of Woodrow Wilson, "Big Labor" tried to run the government and did so in the passing of the Adamson law and other rank class legislation. The result is that the railroads are demovalized, because of the demands of the railway brotherhoods and the people are the sufferers.

The result. The people are up in arms, and in some quarters efforts are being made to crush the labor movement. This should not be. America can not get along without labor. America can not get along without capital. Just recall Ruhsia under red rule.

What America wants is not capital and labor crushed, but capital and labor controlled. In the "open shop" campaign the shop should not be closed to union men or to non-union men, but open t bth equally. Curb labor, but do not crush it.

From the number of automobile trips some of the candidates in the Democratic primary are taking to th county, it appears that it will take several sheets of paper to contain their expense account which is to be filed in County Court.

Wonder if Democrats, who were so wrought up over Admiral Sims "jackass" speech, thought he was referring to their party. Boy page Woodrow and Jimmy!

Separators are washed once a day - sometimes; cream cans are set where swarms of flies collect; full cans are not delivered promptly, and as a result of these shiftless methods a rancid, wirty, over-sour cream with very obnoxious odor is delivered eventually to the buttermaker-who is expected to work a miracle and produce first class butter. ADVERTISIN GAND BUSINESS MUST GROW, SAYS BANKER

Impossible For Any Permanent Curtailment of Volume of Advertising, Says Expert.

Newspaper and magazine advertis ing i nthe United States is unlikely to suffer any very considerable permanent loss in volume ,according to James I. Clarke, second vice-president of the National Bank of Commerce in New York. In the July number of Commerce Monthly, the bank's magazine, he presents a comparison of total advertising lineage for the past ten years with bank clearings outside New York, an accepted index of business activity. This comparison shows that both follow the same general trend he points out, and that the unprece dented growth of advertising during the postwar boom period was primarily the result of business activity rather than of extraneous causes.

"There is a popular belief that the passing of the abnormal conditions of recent years may result in a marked and permanent reduction in advertising of every sort," Mr. Clarke declares. "In an era of sweeping and business activity, the relation between the volume of advertising and the volume of business thus becomes a mat- tent by Federal taxes, or was the reter of more than mer technical interest. Bradly viewed ,the subject is ulus of business activity.

"Any great decrease in the volum effect on the number and distribution and on the interchange of opinion that there can be any very considerwhich they so greatly stimulate. Many publicantions would necessarily be discontinues while those which surviv ed would reach fewer readers because the loss of advertising revenues would make necessary large increases in subscription rates."

Mr. Clarke cites statistics compiled by Printers Ink and the Neww York Evening Post on newspaper and magazine advertising, which he has plotted as a graph together with the figures on bank clearings. He continues:

"Comparing the curves representing New York City newspaper advertising and total magazine advertising, it will be noted that the seasonal variations in both classes of advertising occur together and with extraordinary regularity. Not only do the fluctuations in newspaper and magazine advertising occur at the same period but they are substantially simila rin extent.

"Although the volume of newspaper and magazine advertising in the United States tends to follow in general the trend of business activity, this study of total advertising lineage emphasizes the remarkably stable character of the volume of advertising. The general upward trend in the volume of advertising continued without substantial interruption from the earli-

The volume of advertising also decreased, magazine advertising to a somewhat greater degree than bank cuearing and newspaper advertising in slightly less proportion.

"During the latter half of 1920 and the first months of the current year, business was again faced with a period of sudden and profound readjustment. Bank clearings outside of New York City, which reached a total of over $18,000,000,000 in October 1920, fell to less than $13,000,000,000 in February, 1921. The volume of magazine advertising declined in accordance with the unusual seasonal fluctuations during the fall of 1920 but much more precipitately than in previous years. The volume of newspaper advertising followed the normal seasonal variations and decreased proportionately less than bank clearings.

"It thus appears that, apart from seasonal variations, the volume of advertising tends generally to move with general business activity but that on the whole the volume of advertising lineage posses marked stability, rising less rapidly than business in seasons of extraordinary activity an dfalling less rapidly in periods of depression. Newspaper advertising appears to be more stable than magazine advertising "There appears to be no reason to periodical advertising during 1919 and 1920 was influenced to any great ex-

Washington, D. C. - "Loud cries of ecenomy are being heard from any quarters, and Congress and the President have been made the butt of much recent criticsm for not reducing expendtirures even more than they have" says the Republican Publicity Associa-

the Government. "Of course all those things must be provided for, and the Republican Congress has provided for them with appropriations cut to the bone.
